

2007 DEUTSCHE BANK CHAMPIONSHIP

2007 was the first year the PGA TOUR implemented the FedEx Cup point system. The Deutsche Bank Championship was one of the PGA TOUR's playoff venues for the FedEx Cup. Phil Mickelson won the event finishing at -16 holding off the likes of Geoff Ogilvy, Rory Sabbatini and Tiger Woods. Mickelson had the lowest round on Monday finishing with a 66 which was good enough for him to win the tournament by 2 strokes.
